most imposing demonstration, last night, which has ever taken place in this city. If there has ever been a doubt of the intense enthusiasm which the Union cause and its candidates have created in this good old town, that doubt must have been dissipated by the outpouring of popular sentiment witnessed upon our streets, last night.

a late hour in the evening it was doubtful whether the weather would permit an outdoor demonstration, but at nightfall, the rain ceased, and from all sections of the city the Union men proceeded towards the Ward headquarters and thence moved in line to the Central Union Club Hall, whence after marching to the wharf, and receiving a large delegation from the gallant Union Men of the District, the procession moved through the
